"A Letter

Since 1870, Martin College has sought to provide quality education as well as some of the best memories in the lives of each of its students. The annual publication of the Martinaire has done its best to capture so many of these precious moments. As in past years, the 1987-88 Martinaire Staff has again composed a collection of memorabilia reflecting the excitement that we together shared from the meeting of new people. The campus life has always exemplified very personal relationships among students, as well as between students and teachers.

From the Editor"

Though I, myself, have always lived in a large city, the smallness of Martin Methodist College makes for the closeness that has formed among us all. Aside from the apparent rivalry displayed by the baseball and soccer teams, the athletic department adds incredible character to the college morale. I believe the common feeling on second floor is "nothing is more important than baseball — not even lab!" Oh, but having babies . . . well, I guess that's a good enough excuse, although I didn't see Coach Thomas running any laps for missing practice. Of course, being away from home for the first time is truly devastating for some of us, but when basketball season rolls around all the "youngsters" suddenly turn into the ever-present, angry mob of MMC's Student Body cheering section. Well, not all of us claim to be athletic supporters, but certainly equally active in such organizations as Associated Student Government — Student Christian Association, Black Student Organization, etc. President Kelli Alcorn has done a fine job this year in governing such student activities as the "always fabulous" ASG dances. We may also thank Miss Ruwende and SCA

Sponsor, Steve Johnson, for Thursday Chapel and the new campus paper — The Smoke Signal. With all of this going on who has time to study?! I admit its been tough for me, but I would like to thank my staff for all their help in constructing this year's annual and everyone for making my last year at MMC, a truly, terrific one!!!

Dr. Thomas Yow, III came to us from Louisburg College, North Carolina in the fall of 1985. An accomplished man of 44, he began as a student at a church-related college much like Martin. While attending, he held the position of Student Government President. Shortly thereafter, he married his wife, Julia, who has since been his highest form of support throughout his career.

After serving as President of the Alumni Association of Methodist Colleges, he took a position as pastor of a small church in Fayetteville, N.C. where, in his first year, he increased enrollment by one hundred members. Yet, the man whose favorite hobby is his work, admits he could not find enough to keep him busy. Up to this time, he had not really worked in higher education, but around 1975, while serving as President of Search Committee of Methodist Colleges, he took over as part-time chief fund-raiser for a Methodist College. His success at this time earned him a promotion to Director of Admissions of the college. His plans then were to serve there four years and return to the ministry. Fortunately, his decision was put on the "back burner" as a result of an offer to serve as Assistant to the President of Louisburg College. The conditions were that he work there and study part-time at Duke in order to acquire his doctorate, which he received in 1982. Following the accomplishment of his degree, he had written a grant to the General Board of High Education which required his presence at a meeting to be held in Washington, D.C. Without further adieu, he flew directly there with nothing but a shaving kit. It was there he met a board member with whom he explained his background. A wise man — he contacted Dr. Yow two weeks later encouraging him to apply for the President of Martin College.

Since Dr. Yow's first year in office, we have seen tremendous growth in, not only enrollment, but also in areas such as campus activities, athletic programs, faculty additions and improved management. It is flattering to think that we, as students, are an important part of such a distinguished man's life. We are certainly thankful to him for the enthusiastic effort he has made in making Martin Methodist College the increasingly successful institution that it has become. — Cynthia Daugherty

ATHLETICS

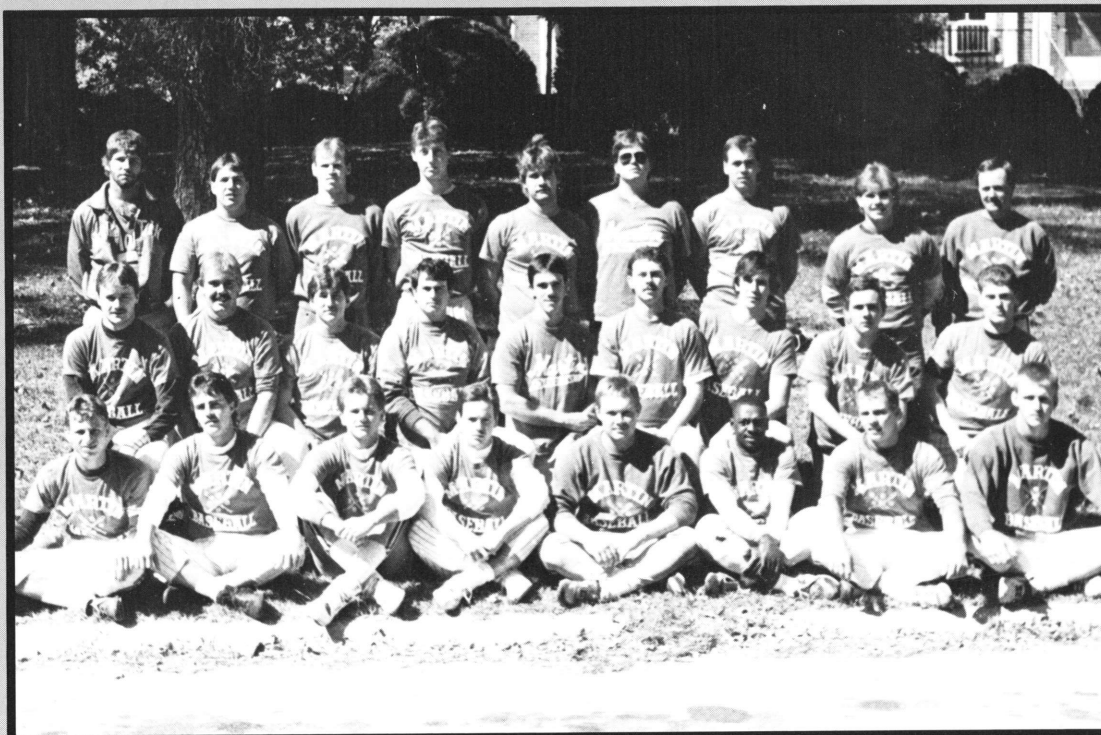

BASEBALL

The Indians of Coach Mickey Thomas are looking toward their spring baseball schedule with excitement. With a good nucleus of returning players and some impressive newcomers, the Indians should be the team to watch in the Tennessee Junior College Athletic Conference this year. With a strong defensive game and some power at the plate, the Indians should fair well in their 50-odd game schedule.

In his third year as skipper, Coach Thomas, was pleased with the results of the fall activities and practices leading up to the season.

Coach Royce Hughes coaches the only junior college fast-pitch softball team in Tennessee. With seven returning sophomores and thirteen freshmen girls, these 20 Lady Indians will play 16 to 20 double-header ball games before advancing to the tournaments in May.

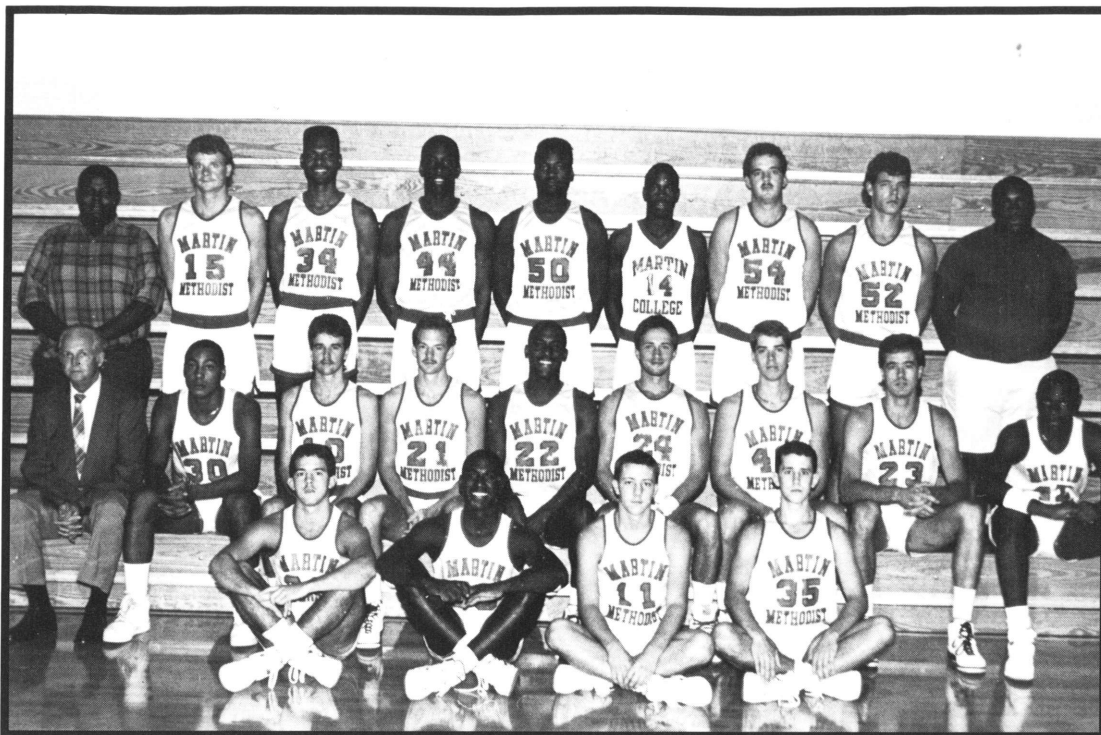

Assistant coach Pat Tinnon volunteers her time to help Coach

Hughes bring out the best these young ladies have to offer. Playing four year schools has its advantages and disadvantages, according to Hughes. While the team doesn't get to play junior colleges until the National Tournament, they do get to play many fine and competitive teams. Coaches Hughes and Tinnon are looking forward to an exciting spring.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

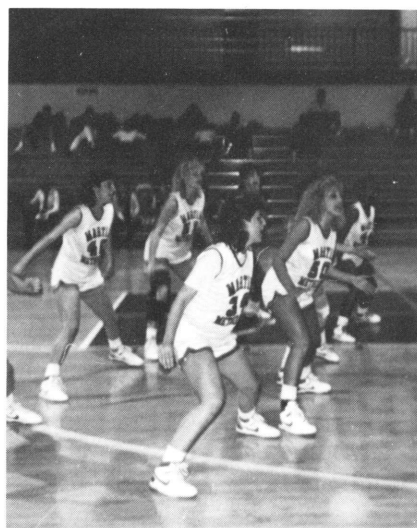

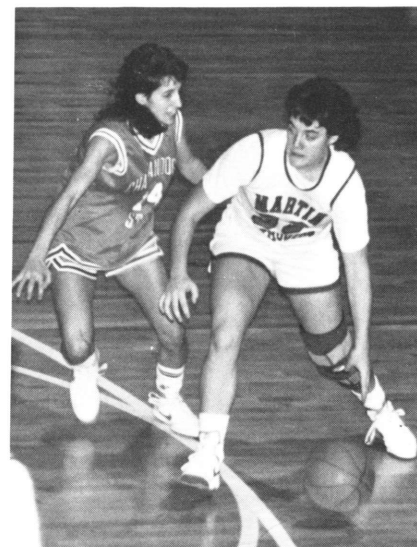

Coach Joe Hardin's Indians have started this 1987-88 season with eight returning sophomores, forming a tight nucleus of talented ball players. Add ten tough and talented freshmen to that nucleus and the Indians should be one tough team. Coach Hardin believes these players have the ability to be more competitive and finish higher in the TJCAA than last year.

The Indians add invitational ball games to their busy season. They played in the Aquinas and Sneed State Invitionals, placing third at Sneed State, GA. Utilizing the talents of Assistant Coach Mickey Thomas, Coach Hardin looks forward to seeing quality ball being played by these quality students.

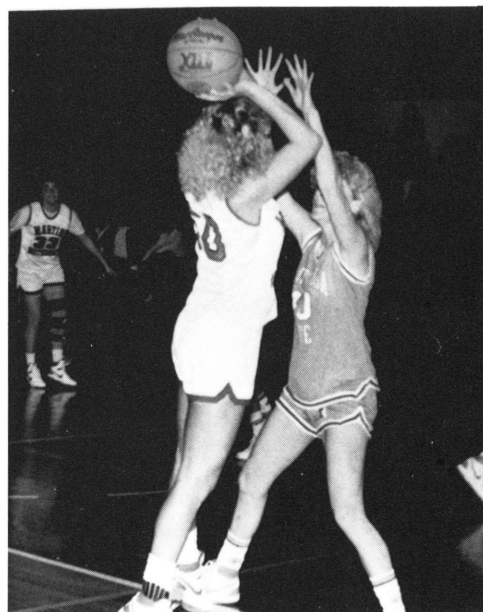

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The Lady Indians started their season with six returning sophomores as the core of the 1987-88 team. Coach Joe Hardin has added Robin Parsons, former MMC All-American, to help bring out the best in these young women.

While the Lady Indians have a tough season ahead of them, playing around 30 season games plus tournaments, Coach Hardin believes this team can perform as well as last year's team, if not better. With the core of sophomore talent and fresh new talent, the Lady Indians have formed a solid team.

SOCCER

Soccer is the new sport added to Martin's athletic talents. Coach Bill Vaughan brought his men together from as far away as Jamaica and as close as Pulaski; looking for the best for Martin Methodist College. Due to several injuries and to the newness of the team, their record in the fall was 3-9-1. However, stated the coach, most other schools with new soccer teams only played two games this fall. This team has lots of talent and experience and will be a team to be reckoned with in the near future.

The ambitious team will also have indoor games in January and February with more games outside in the spring. The fall experience will be a great asset for the team. Welcome aboard!!

Coach Joe Hardin has a fresh, new group of men for his golf team. While Rodney Miller, Dan Freeman and Mike McCoy are sophomores, this is the first time they have participated on the team. With the talents of the incoming freshmen, Coach Hardin is looking forward to a successful spring season.

TENNIS

New to the staff of Martin Methodist College is Marshall Gilliam. A former ASC president at Martin, Mr. Gilliam now works in admissions and coaches the Martin tennis team. This spring the tennis team is scheduled to play over twenty matches, mostly against four year schools. Besides Martin, there are only two other junior colleges with tennis teams. Mr. Gilliam feels his team will have a solid spring season.

Cheering is an important part of the athletic program at Martin. Those cheering give much needed support at crucial times in the ball games. Therefore, those who lead those cheers are very instrumental in helping our teams play well and pull together at crucial moments.

The cheerleading squad has a new sponsor this year, Miss Kim Hammond. Under her guidance the cheerleaders motivate the crowds and the teams. We appreciate their support.

INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL

Intramural volleyball is an opportunity for everyone to come out and have some fun. With six or seven teams the competition is tight, playing the best of two-out-of-three games. Each team must have a minimum of four boys and two girls, letting more people have a chance to play.

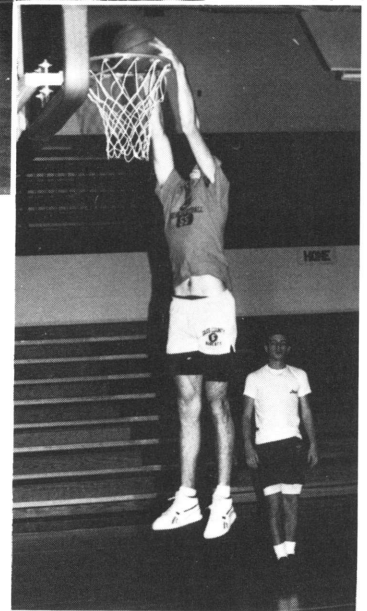

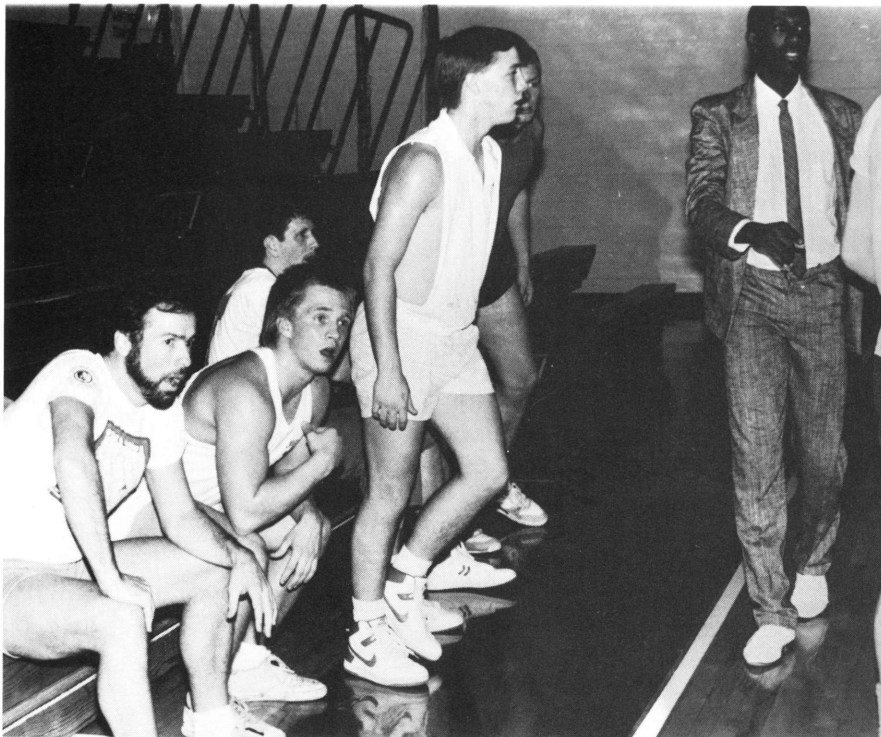

Intramural Basketball

Ready . . . aim . . . fire!!

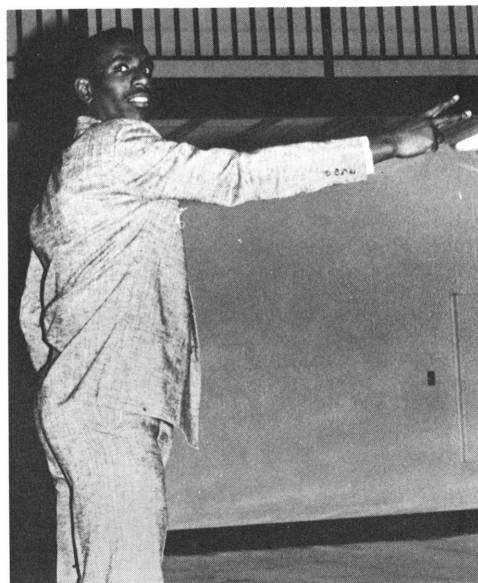

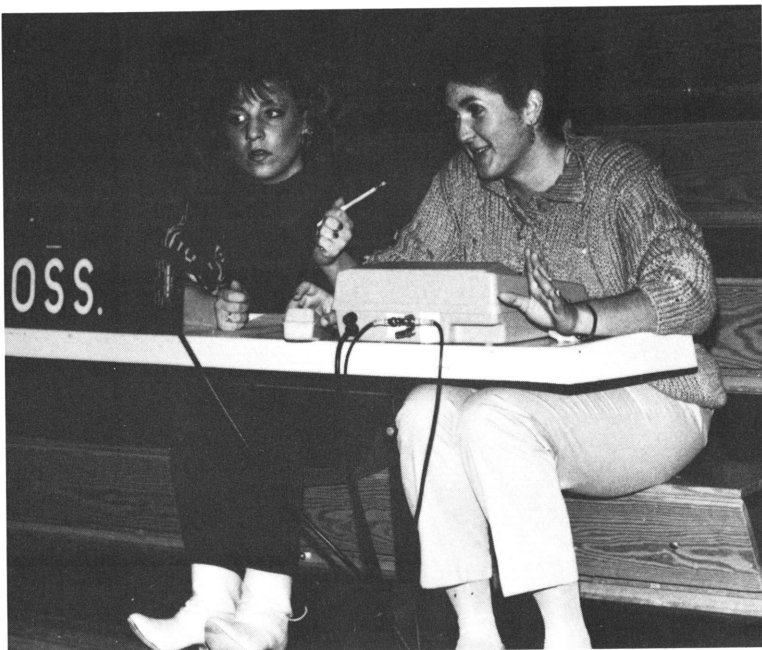

Intramural basketball is a big event for many of the non-varsity athletes of Martin. This time not only gives the varsity players a chance to watch and enjoy the games, but also gives the participants a chance to run, sweat, and just have fun.

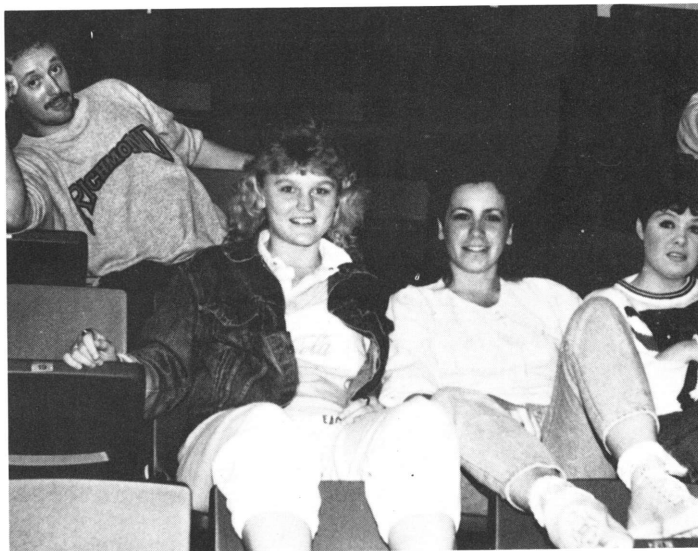

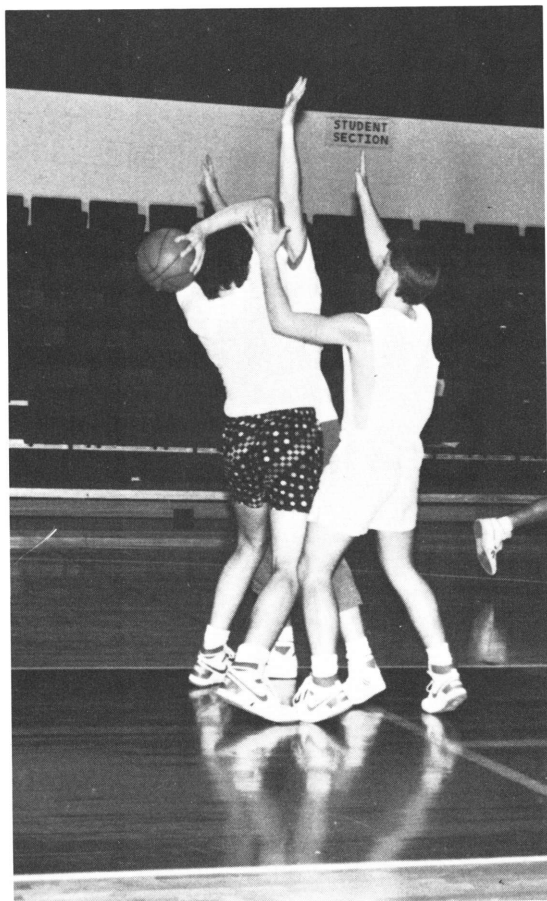

Oops! My slip is showing.

Half-times are just entirely too short!

You better give my team two points.

"Heather, have you ever seen anything so funny?"

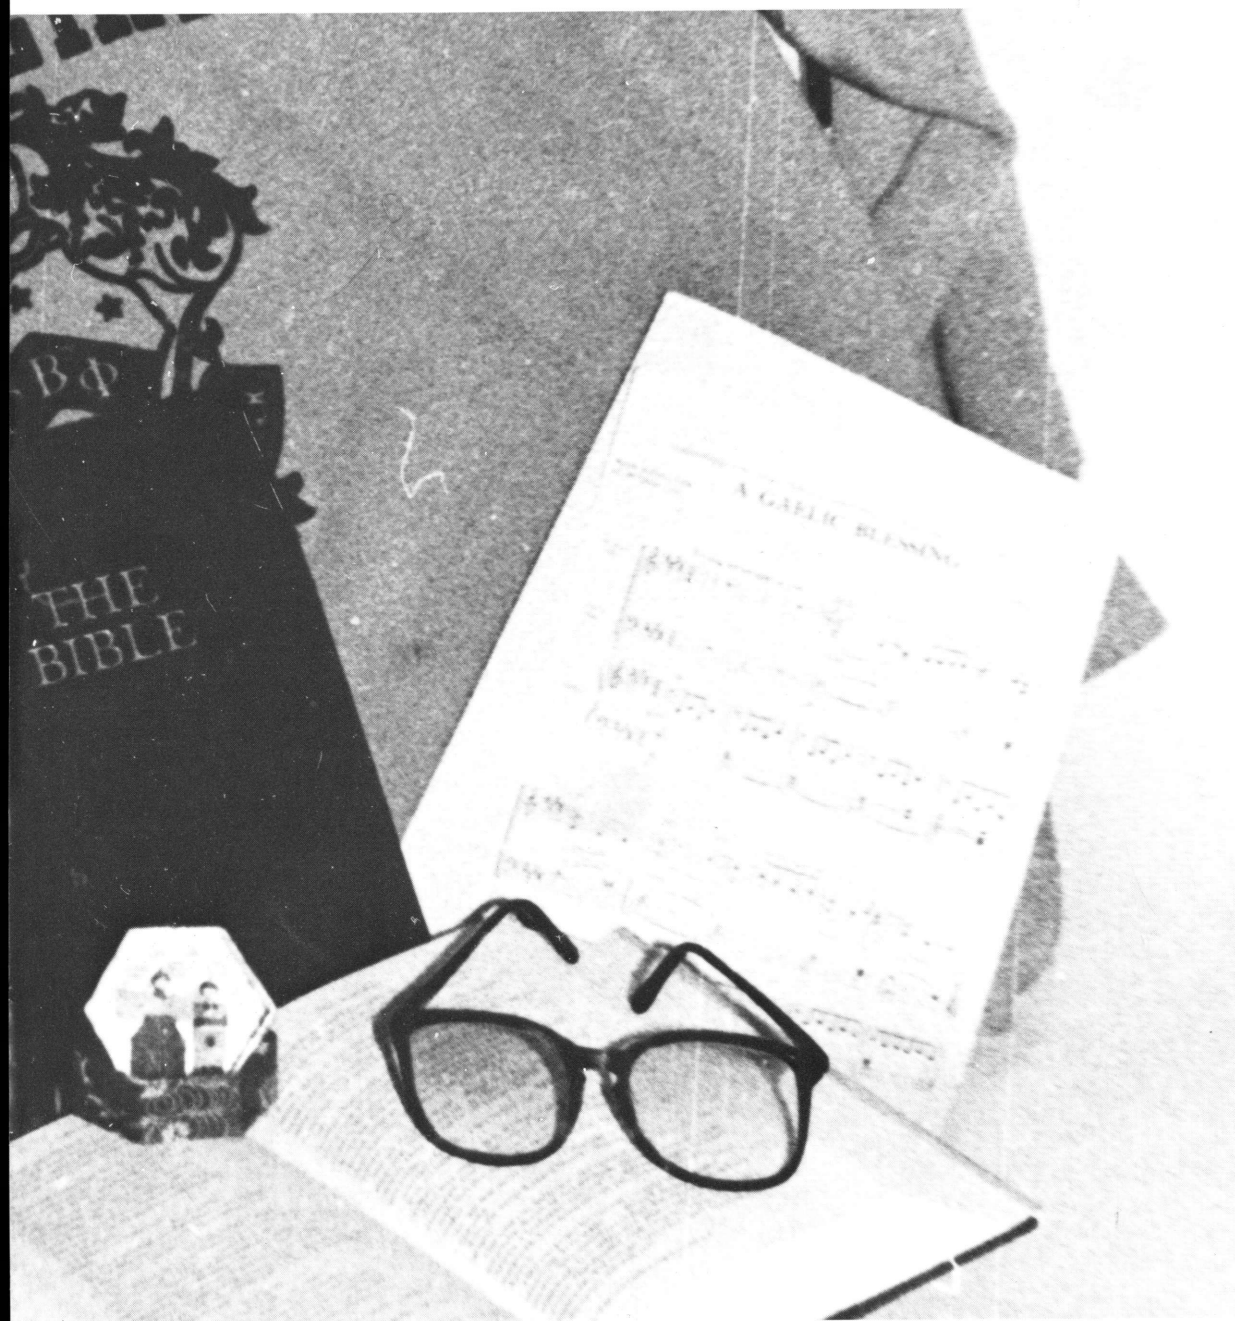

Here is Coach Thomas showing some players what not to do.

See, my armpits smell almost as bad as yours.

FEATURES

DEDICATION

"Hi, there! What can I do for you?" To most this statement is just a greeting — a familiar way to break the ice in new situations. When the words are from Mrs. Royce Hughes, they take on a vastly different tone; the ring of truth. As Director of Martin Methodist College's Curry Christian Life Center, teacher, coach, mother, friend, Mrs. Hughes has more than enough roles to keep her on the go, yet she can still find a moment to aid someone in need. It is this outstanding altruism which exemplifies the woman we know as Royce Hughes. It is this, among many other fine qualities, which places her among the best of the best.

Referring to herself as sometimes "a mother hen," Mrs. Hughes always takes care of her students: bandaging countless ankles, running the concession stand, coaching various sports, and, most of all, lending an ear when needed. "I may not be such a great advisor," she says modestly, "but I'm a doggone good listener." It is not difficult to understand how she can command such a large amount of respect and admiration from her students.

Mrs. Hughes' work does not stop at the college. She is active in supporting the Special Olympics, often enlisting the aid of Martin students. She works with the Giles County youth in sports. As a mother of two teenagers, Mrs. Hughes also knows to set aside some quality time for her children. These feats make her day seem like twenty-eight hours already, but for her it is just beginning . . .

Our college is honored to have such an outstanding and energetic educator as Royce Hughes. It is in this manner that we now honor Mrs. Royce Hughes for her loving devotion to her students and to Martin Methodist College by dedicating the 1988 Martinaire to her.

WORKING THE STAND

Nickell Picnic

many pizzas?

Boo- Out!

This year's Boo-Out was a time of fun for children of all ages. Sponsored by the Student Christian Association, the halloween party for low income children was a great success. The clubs and organizations on campus sponsored different carnival games. Since admission was free, the children could play the games as often as they liked.

Some of the different activities/games included having faces painted, shooting out candles with a water-gun, having fortunes told, and catching candy from the fish pond. There were other activities and spooks around. Even "President Reagan" came down for the fun.

The Boo-Out is one of several activities the student body sponsors for underprivileged children. The essence of living is to give to those less fortunate.

NICKELL PICNIC

Each fall Mr. Nickell lets the student body and faculty picnic at his farm. With potato salad, chips and dip, home-grown corn, and fire-roasted hotdogs, what could be better?

This year's picnic was a huge success. Along with the food, there was volleyball, frisbee, and football games for the athletically minded. Others sang, talked, and just got to know each other. Regardless of who did what, it was a good time of relaxation and fellowship.

SPIRITUAL

Fall Spiritual Emphasis Days, sponsored by the Student Christian Association, was the highlight of the spiritual activities on campus. The Rev. James King, a minister in the Nashville District, was speaker for the occasion and each evening music was provided by students of MMC. A time of renewal and rededication, the three-days culminated with a communion service and a time of sharing for all involved. This annual event of SCA draws more participants each year and is a major source of uplifting of the values that Martin Methodist College stresses.

Christmas Party

Each December, Martin's SCA sponsors a Christmas party for children of low-income families and this year was no exception. The students who chose to sponsor a child provided him/her with a present and shared the activities. Santa Claus paid a visit and each child had a gift to remember the evening.

MMC students also go caroling at Christmas. this year they went to two nursing homes and several houses in the neighborhood, ending at the president's home. Everyone warmed up with refreshments and good fellowship and returned to campus to celebrate communion.

APPRECIATION NIGHT

Student athletes and their parents were honored at the annual Martin Methodist College's Appreciation Night. Members of all the athletic teams were introduced and parents acknowledged during the Saturday evening basketball contests. The parents were guests at a reception immediately following the games.
